Tensions Abate In Wall Street

Stocks Unaffected By SEC Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Tensions abated in Wall Street today following the final report in the first exhaustive investigation of securities market practices since the 1930s.

But brokers, mutual fund managers and others in the securities business recognized there probably will be tighter supervision from Washington, and some changes in ways of doing things.

Except possibly for the mutual fund segment, the financial community found little unexpected Thursday in the third report on the two-year inquiry by a special staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Sharp criticism was leveled at high-pressure tactics used by some salesmen of mutual fund shares; notably part-timers said to have employed highly emotional appeals playing on "fear, pride and patriotism."

The report also questioned sales fee collection patterns in the sale of contractual (installment) plans, methods of routing brokerage business by some funds and what it deemed potential conflict of interest situations that could favor insiders over shareholders.

The federal investigators added to earlier recommendations for a closer SEC rein on self-regulation of organized securities markets, such as the New York and American Stock Exchanges.

Ohio Guard Routed by Hepatitis Case

CAMP GRAYLING, Mich. (AP) — A mess officer came down with infectious hepatitis and nearly 500 members of the Ohio National Guard had their training disrupted Thursday.

But medical officials assured there was little chance of an epidemic, and the battalion involved was back in business after a short break.

Medics evacuated and quarantined the field area the battalion had occupied. Gamma globulin was given everyone who had come in contact with the sick man. The 498 Guardsmen involved resumed training in the camp area proper, where sanitation and other facilities are better.

The hepatitis case occurred in the 1st Battalion of the 168th Infantry Regiment, part of Ohio's 37th Infantry Division which began its annual two-week summer encampment last weekend. The battalion includes men from Columbus, Lancaster, Circleville, Delaware and Washington Court House.

The ailing soldier, 1st Lt. James J. Hughes of Columbus—an attorney in civilian life—was flown to Wright-Patterson Air Force base at Dayton, Ohio. He was reported in satisfactory condition at the base hospital.

Pact Assurance Sought By GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are demanding President Kennedy prove his claim that the limited nuclear test ban treaty will increase U.S. security.

The proof will be sought when military and scientific experts are questioned in hearings on the treaty, said Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

In sending the pact to the Senate Thursday, Kennedy said the ban on atmospheric, space and underwater blasts "will assure the

Canfield Man Injured In Crash Dies

County Man Flees State Prison Farm

Two inmates, including a Columbiana County man, walked away from the Grafton State Prison Farm at Lorain Thursday night.

The escapees are Gary E. Risher, 24, of East Liverpool and Dennis K. Neely, 22, of Cuyahoga and Lake counties.

County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said Risher was sentenced in June 1959 for four burglaries in the Lisbon, East Liverpool areas.

The youth had requested probation which was denied. He was up for parole in April 1960 and again in October 1961, but parole was refused in each case.

Neely was convicted of breaking and entering and grand larceny.

security of the United States better than continued unlimited testing on both sides."

The United States could make further progress in its weapons program if atmospheric tests were continued, the President said, but "so would the Soviet Union and, indeed, so could other nations."

He continued in the 1,500-word message: "It should be remembered that only one atomic test was required to complete the development of the Hiroshima bomb. Clearly the security of the United States—the security of all mankind—is increased if such tests are prohibited."

Underground tests are not barred and the President has said they will be continued.

Later, talking to reporters, Dirksen said:

"I presume that the President is fully prepared, through necessary witnesses, to fortify his avowed position that our security will be enhanced, instead of impaired, by the provisions of this treaty."

The treaty was signed in Moscow Monday by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union. To take effect it must be approved by two-thirds of the Senate.

In Washington, Moscow and London Thursday, officials of 34 other nations signed the pact. It is expected to pick up more signatures today and Saturday. The State Department says 62 nations have announced they intend to sign and more than 100 are expected to do so eventually.

After Kennedy sent the treaty to the Senate it was referred immediately to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee where public hearings will start Monday in the big caucus room of the Old Senate Office Building.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, flanked by Undersecretary W. Averell Harriman, who negotiated the agreement in Moscow, and William C. Foster, director of arms control and disarmament, will open the administration's presentation.

On Tuesday, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will testify. Members of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Senate members of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee will sit in on the sessions.

Dirksen made his call for proof of U.S. security after Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., told the Senate that the record on which the treaty must stand or fall has yet to be made.

Goldwater said the Senate must act on facts, not on "assumptions, hopes, fears and fantasy."

Dirksen said many of the questions of senators will be based on their concern "whether our security is involved if we can not adequately test in the megaton

Rusk, Nikita Hold Parley at Soviet Resort

No Major Decisions Expected To Result From Conference

GAGRA, U.S.S.R. (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Premier Khrushchev sat down today for a shirt-sleeve conference on cold war issues at the premier's luxurious estate overlooking the Black Sea.

Rusk arrived in Gagra Thursday. After a night at a government guest house he drove in an open convertible to the estate. Awaited By Khrushchev Khrushchev and his family awaited the American Cabinet member in the estate's recreation building. The premier walked down the steps of the building with two of his small grandsons, Vanya and Nikita, flanking him.

The premier introduced the boys to the secretary and warmly greeted members of Rusk's party. They included Assistant Secretary of State Richard Davis, U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler, Llewellyn Thompson, former ambassador to Moscow and now Rusk's top adviser on Soviet affairs, and their wives.

Khrushchev good naturedly lined up with his guests on the steps for a dozen Russian and American photographers.

After the picture taking, Khrushchev led Rusk to the second floor veranda of the recreation building. Conference tables had been set up facing the sun-bathed Black Sea.

Stopped In Moscow

Rusk flew here Thursday from the Baltic seaport of Leningrad, making a 30-minute stop in Moscow to pick up Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Khrushchev and Rusk were expected to talk for about two or three hours and then retire to the glassed in veranda of the main house for lunch.

It was assumed Rusk and Khrushchev again would range over major East-West issues, including the future of divided Berlin and Khrushchev's proposals for an East-West nonaggression pact and stationing of observers on both sides of the Iron Curtain to guard against surprise attack.

No Major Decisions

No major decisions were expected to result from the conference. Its purpose was to see whether a road has been opened for fruitful negotiations in the wake of the limited nuclear test ban agreement.

Rusk and Gromyko were to fly back to Moscow after the meeting with Khrushchev, and Gromyko was to be the American secretary's host at dinner tonight.

Rusk goes to Bonn Saturday to assure West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that the test ban treaty in no way changes the West's determination not to recognize Communist East Germany which signed the treaty Thursday.

Present at last night's session besides Dr. Conrad were Callahan and Mrs. Marjorie Barber, members of the committee, and Atty. Fitch.

Summitville Council OKs New Gas Rate

SUMMITVILLE — An ordinance calling for a gas rate increase of 1.7 per cent was given a first reading when Council met Thursday evening.

The new rate, acceptable to both Council and the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., will be in effect four years after the ordinance is finally adopted. It may be acted on at the next meeting Sept. 19.

On customers bills, it would mean an increase from $3.00 to $3.06 for the first thousand cubic feet of gas used.

A year ago the gas company asked for a 3.5 per cent increase but Council refused to go along with this proposal and appealed to the Ohio Public Utilities Commission to make a local survey.

Boyd D. Tackett of Columbus gave a report for the commission at a special council meeting July 25, after which Councilman Dominic Sabatino drafted the counterproposal on the new gas rate.

It was accepted by Courtney Pennell, manager of the Lisbon district office of the gas company.

Seven To Get Scholarships

KSU Awards Hinge On Qualifications

Scholarships to the Salem Academic Center of Kent State University were tentatively awarded Thursday night to seven Salem area students.

However, Dr. Paul Conrad of Leetonia, chairman of the scholarship committee, said the awards could not definitely be made until the KSU Admissions Board acts on the scholarship candidates' qualifications for admission.

He said a report is expected by early next week in the office of committee member John Callahan, dean of boys.

Eight applications were received, all from Columbiana County, although southern Mahoning County pupils are also eligible.

"There is a possibility that more scholarships may be paid in, enabling our committee to consider more candidates," Dr. Conrad said.

The scholarships are for $200 each, which pays more than half of all fees and costs of an academic year.

In light of several queries concerning the center's courses, Atty. Alfred Fitch, president of the Board of Trustees, reported that schedules for fall courses are expected to be in the office at the high school Monday.

Present at last night's session besides Dr. Conrad were Callahan and Mrs. Marjorie Barber, members of the committee, and Atty. Fitch.

$98,000 Reward Offered

Train Robbery Loot May Total $8.4 Million

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard and police forces of 14 countries searched today for the gang that pulled off history's greatest train robbery, but if they had any clues they kept them secret.

Several British newspapers said the total loss in the ambushing Thursday of the Glasgow-London mail train may reach 3 million pounds ($8.4 million). A Scotland Yard spokesman said the police are still working on the basis that the haul was something over one million pounds ($2.8 million).

A total of 35,000 pounds ($98,000) was offered in reward money by the Post Office and insurance companies.

The gang of about 15 masked bandits halted the 10-coach "traveling post office" before dawn on a lonely stretch of countryside 40 miles northwest of London. The bandits overpowered the two train crewmen in the locomotive, held postal sorters in the first two coaches at bay, and escaped with 120 bags of registered mail, including gems and quantities of negotiable banknotes.

"It was a brilliantly planned operation," said a senior police officer.

It was the first successful robbery of a mail train in the 125 years the traveling post offices have been in operation.

Police were convinced that the gang had been told when and where to strike by an employee of either the Post Office or the government-operated railroads. The rest of the train—containing some 70 unarmed postal sorters — was ignored. The richest haul came from the second coach which together with the coach ahead and the locomotive was uncoupled and moved a mile down the track to be unloaded.

The coup was carried out in 15

Fairfield-Waterford Board Hires Teachers

Two new teachers, one full-time and one part-time, and a bus driver were employed Thursday night at a regular meeting of the Fairfield-Waterford School District Board of Education.

William Dorman of Youngstown was hired as a full-time instructor of social studies at Crestview High School. Named to teach high school mathematics and English half-time was Mrs. Gladys Strawn of New Waterford. Walter Fitzsimmons of New Waterford was hired to drive school bus.

In other action, the board awarded a $1,574.70 roofing contract to the Monroe Co. of Cleveland.

The firm started today to repair the roof of the Fairfield building. The work involves the application of a fiberglass layer sandwiched between two layers of asphaltic material.

A contract was awarded to the Lindsay Dairy of East Palestine to furnish milk for the Fairfield and New Waterford buildings and to the Isaly Dairy Co. of Youngstown to supply milk to Crestview High. The cost is 4.7 cents per half-pint. The same companies supplied the schools with milk last year.

Executive Head Joe W. Driscoll said the price to the pupil—2.

Thief Loses Coin Flip, Confesses All

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Sporting blood proved to be the key to unlocking a suspected auto thief's storage bin of information today.

Detective Steve Longo of the Montgomery County sheriff's office spent hour after hour interrogating an unnamed suspect this morning, but to no avail.

Finally, after several hours had round by with no information forthcoming, Longo took a long quizzical look at his by - now equally tired and worn suspect and asked: "Are you a gambler?"

"That I am," said his formidable opponent.

"Well then," said Longo, "I'll flip a coin. If you win you go back to jail and I'll ask you no more questions. But if I win you tell all."

The closemouthed prisoner agreed. The coin was flipped into the air.

Longo won. The suspect kept his word and confessed to three auto thefts forthwith.

Lung Ailment Overcomes Tot's Heart

President at Bedside As End Comes at 4:04 This Morning

BOSTON (AP)—The tiny son of President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy died early today when a lung ailment overcame his heart. The President was only a few feet away when his third child died.

The President spent the night in a room at the Boston Children's Hospital Medical Center.

Only 12 hours before, teams of specialists had placed the four-pound 10½-ounce boy in a huge breathing apparatus, the only one of its kind in the world.

Presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger told hastily gathered newsmen that Patrick Bouvier Kennedy died at 4:04 a.m. (EDT).

Too Much For Heart
"The struggle of the baby boy to keep breathing was too much for his heart," Salinger said.

With the President when the baby died were his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, and presidential assistant David F. Powers of Boston.

Death came to the third child of the President less than 40 hours after his birth in the Otis Air Force Base Hospital on Cape Cod, about 65 miles south of Boston.

Mrs. Kennedy, still recuperating from the Caesarean delivery in a special wing of the Otis pital, had not been told her baby had died, Salinger told newsmen when he announced the baby's death.

The President and his wife lost a child in 1956 when Mrs. Kennedy suffered an internal hemorrhage. The child was born dead in August 1956 when it was delivered several weeks prematurely. Mrs. Kennedy also suffered a miscarriage in 1953.

Brother Rushes to Hospital
Doctors awakened the President at 2:10 a.m. when the child's condition worsened. The President's brother received an urgent call two minutes later at his hotel and rushed to the hospital.

Salinger said the President would fly to Otis to see Mrs. Kennedy.

Almost immediately after his birth on Wednesday afternoon, five and one-half weeks ahead of schedule, doctors determined the child suffered from a respiratory affliction. Doctors termed the ailment idiopathic respiratory syndrome, a problem that causes difficulty in breathing, particularly in premature children.

A police-escorted ambulance sped the child from the hospital

President Flies To Wife's Side at Cape Cod Hospital

OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP) — A sorrowing President Kennedy arrived at his wife's hospital bedside today to share with her the heartbreak of their infant son's death.

The President was accompanied by his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

It was not known whether Mrs. Kennedy yet was aware that baby Patrick Bouvier Kennedy had died in the early hours after only 39 hours and 12 minutes of life.

In marked contrast to the tragic occasion, the presidential helicopter settled down in the bright sunshine.

It was the end of a sad journey for the chief executive to the bedside of his wife, who had been through two days of worry after the Caesarean birth of her third child.

TRAFFIC STOPPER — Intent on feeding her chicks in nest she built in amber light of traffic signal, mother blackbird tends to their wants oblivious of squealing brakes and other traffic noises in London's Southampton Row. Stop signal above and go signal below are receiving much less attention than the amber light as motorists stop to look at the nest. Chicks are thriving in reflections of the light as it changes.

Duckworth Says Area Fishing Catch Is Small

Max E. Duckworth of Alliance, who recently assumed his duties as Columbiana game protector, said fishing in the local area hasn't been too good lately. Beaver Creek has been high and muddy, and few fish have been taken from Guilford and Zeppernick lakes.

Duckworth said two turtles from 10 to 15 pounds were caught in nets at Zeppernick.

With the opening of squirrel season Sept. 6, hunting licenses and laws should be available about Aug. 15.

Language Grows Fiercer

Maj. Gen. George H. Cloud of the U.S. Marine Corps, senior delegate of the United Nations to the Joint Military Armistice Commission in Korea, used these words in warning North Korea to avoid further order incidents: Bloodthirsty marauders, murdering bandits, killers, ambushers, murderers, bestial, unprovoked.

These are harsher terms than those being used by the North Koreans so far, who are still sticking closely to forms of "imperialist." When their spokesmen begin to shout "imperialist swine," Maj. Gen. Cloud will have to think of new language arts to outdo them.

There is a reason the language grows fiercer. This is more than an exercise in invective.

IT NEVER WAS fully comprehended during the Korean War why the United Nations, meaning chiefly the United States, had to check the invasion of South Korea by North Korea.

It was not because the United States wanted to intervene in a civil war in Korea. It was because the United States did not want to let Communist influence in Korea grow strong enough in South Korea to imperil the security of Japan.

Communist influence at the outset of the Korean War in 1950 was manifest in the use of Russian materiel, chiefly tanks, and in the reliance of the North Korean aggressors on Russian military advisers.

At the close of the war in 1953, on the other hand, the Communist influence was manifest chiefly in the presence of hordes of Red Chinese troops.

NORTH KOREANS are no threat in themselves, not even North Korean Communists. They are subject to the orders of their Communist sponsors, precisely as the Vietnamese Communists are subject to the orders of their Communist sponsors; i.e., the people who furnish the weapons with which they kill and maim Americans trying to check the spread of their influence in Asia.

It should be a simple matter to determine who the sponsors are.

It should be a matter of public record.

If Russian Communists have anything to do with recent murders of U.S. troops holding the truce line in Korea, if they have anything to do with prolonging the hopeless struggle in South Viet Nam, any move to collaborate with them on a nuclear test ban would be a howling mockery of international decency.

30 Days Locked Up In Elkhorn

A fortnight from now, experts will be ready with a report on what happened in a $35,000 fallout shelter to 30 cows and a bull in a simulated seclusion.

The test will be conducted by an Omaha dairyman on his farm at Elkhorn, Neb., and is one of those projects all of us are expected to take seriously because it has bearing on our welfare in this scientific age.

Experts have all the information they need about human reaction to life in fallout shelters, but they're not clear yet how cows would take it if The Bomb fell. They — the cattle will be taken out for exercise for short periods after the first day or two following a thermonuclear blast. But they won't know what it's all about.

The reliable Associated Press, reporting this bizarre experiment in animal husbandry, is silent on why the bull has been included in the fallout shelter. It is silent on why the cows are included, as a matter of fact, because if both they and the bull are going to be let out for a romp every few days, the result could be observed on any one of thousands of dairy farms without making a high-level project out of it. This happens all the time during inclement weather.

It's when they let the cows out and keep the bull penned up that . . . well, or sometimes the other way around. Anyway, because cattle can't read or understand what they say on the box that talks, how are they going to know this whole thing is in connection with a thermonuclear blast?

They'll just think another long, hard winter must have closed in on Nebraska and it's a long time between coffee breaks.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

What Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has said about Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's views, and vice versa, in recent colloquies hardly constitutes a meaningful debate so far as determining who the Republic's party's presidential candidate will be.

There is something else which will have a really important bearing on the outcome of the contest for the presidential nomination. It's the extraordinary resurgence nowadays of what might be called "conservatism" inside the Republican party. But even the word "conservatism" isn't clearly defined and such expressions as "radical left" and "radical right" have very little application to what is happening within the Republican party.

The party is undergoing a crystallization of views, and the next presidential candidate will be the man who interprets correctly that consensus and is considered the best fitted to expound its true meaning.

The Kennedy administration is really responsible for the metamorphosis inside the Republican party. This kind of change has often happened in political history. For it is the reaction to an administration's policies which brings out the need for an alternative course.

The argument going on as to whether the Republican party is influenced by the John Birchers or others in the "radical right" is superficial. Rather the sentiment worth noting is the grass roots feeling as a whole about national issues.

The Republican party has in it many kinds of conservatives. Some are worried about the future of the dollar and whether it will have to be devalued again, as in 1933.

Other conservatives are concerned about a trend toward totalitarianism in government—an assumption of power by means of executive order which ignores precedent and even constitutional restriction, and, in effect, say that "the end justifies the mean."

THE ADMINISTRATION assumes that the voter will be entranced with a tax cut next year and that by November 1964 they will have forgotten all about the humiliation suffered in Cuba and will embrace the Khrushchev doctrine of "peaceful coexistence" as a "victory for mankind."

But resentments have been building up steadily. There is an unfavorable reaction in the big northern states already on the so-called "civil rights" issue and a feeling that individual right of the many are being brushed aside to gain the votes of minority groups.

The defection in the South from the Democratic party is significant, but it will be succeeded in electoral vote by the movement away from the Democratic party in the populous state of the North.

The public opinion poll have not been definitive because they are based on personalities. Actually, Sen. Goldwater's rise is notable, just as Gov. Rockefeller's decline has caused many an hour of anxiety among his supporters. But neither of these two prominent Republicans nor any of the others named as possibilities have yet been able to demonstrate how they will fit the Republican pattern of conservatism in the year 1964.

It would be helpful if the pollsters could measure the feeling of Republicans on the subject of continuing deficits and federal encroachment on the rights of individuals by such legislation as the "public accommodations" bill.

THE VOTERS in 1964 will be interested, as they have been hitherto, in the integrity of government. It's one of the oldest and most powerful issues in political contests. Huge sums have been appropriated ostensibly for beneficial purposes by Congress has not yet engaged in any process of self-examination.

The public, however, is rapidly getting the impression that billions of the taxpayers' dollars are being spent to curry favor with voters in certain sections of the country and that political welfare in certain big cities is considered more important to the party in office than the public welfare as a whole.

There used to be a time when conservatism was considered the creed of older voters, but the emergence lately of conservative groups of young Republicans is rather remarkable for when the younger men in a political party, who frequently are captivated by "radical liberal" sloans, begin to see that sound government is possible only by means of a "conservative liberalism," the tendency is to seek out new ways of achieving beneficial ends for the people without letting the government to bankrupt or permitting it to be transformed into a Tammany political machine by means of the allocation of federal funds.

There's a lot going on inside the Republican party which in time will crystallize a sensible conservatism as opposed to an extreme conservatism. When the party begin to express spontaneously in every part of the country what it really wants from a candidate, it will be time enough to consider just who best fits the Republican consensus.

"How About Trying Your Hand Over Here?"

Cuba's 'Underground Railroad'

By VICTOR RIESEL

COLONIA, URUGUAY
I'm at a bus stop which is a link in the "underground railroad" to Cuba. Here is evidence that it is virtually impossible to

Victor Riesel

Hundreds more travel via other nearby routes.

And as I have traveled through jungles, over mountains and long stretches of deserts and "altiplanos" (high plains), I have learned in the last month that the Communists have been using those "underground railroads" virtually without any interference.

Take the Colonia bus terminal, for example. For two years now young Argentinians have been coming through. It began about the time Castro's alter ego, Che Guevara, consulted in Buenos Aires with an Argentinian president who has been ousted.

SINCE THAT private talk two years ago in the Presidential Pink House (Casa Rosada) some 40 Argentinians a month have slipped out to Cuba. They need no passports. Most Latin Americans must carry identity cards.

These are sufficient to get them either into Uruguay, across the Rio de la Plata from Buenos Aires or into Chile.

The trip from Buenos Aires to the small Uruguayan city is about an hour by hydrofoil ship (made in West Germany). From the docks here they get into a bus for the hour's trip to Montevideo, Uruguay's capital — now the Prague of South America.

Once they are in Montevideo, the young men preparing to study revolution, contact the Cuban Embassy. There they are checked, financed and dispatched to Cuba via a score of routes through either Central America or Prague.

Even if the Colonia bus stop were checked by police, the "students" could use other routes. They could take the ferry across the 90-mile mouth of the Plata to Montevideo. Or they could fly in by a local aerial shuttle.

IF THIS ROUTE is ever completely cut off by a vigilant Argentine secret police, the revolutionists can go via Chile, an alternate course already in use. They simply use their identity cards to cross the high Andean border by plane or train or car.

Once in Santiago, capital of Chile, they can contact any one of the special cultural centers maintained there by the Sino-Soviet-Cuban bloc.

These centers in themselves are a fascinating phenomenon. The Chilean government does not recognize the Communist governments but it does permit them to operate Chilean - East German, Chilean-Communist-Chinese, Chilean-Cuba intercultural centers. There are 23 of these in Santiago.

So the Argentine Communist simply contacts the one he wants and gets himself a trip abroad, sometimes as far as Peking, but usually to Havana for training.

Once in Montevideo or Santiago, the Argentinian uses his passport to travel freely aboard. In the past the Mexican and some of the other governments used to stamp a piece of paper which was inserted in the passport. But, under U.S. pressure, the book itself is now stamped.

BUT THIS does not affect the revolutionary traffic. After the training in Havana, the young Argentinian simply uses his passport to get back to Santiago or Uruguay. Then at points such as Colonia here, he hides or destroys his passport and uses his identity card.

Since he is not going to be traveling abroad for a while he doesn't need his passport. And no one really knows he has been gone for two or three months.

Castro has developed one more technique for moving cadres into Havana. He is calling an architects' international congress. "To facilitate" travel to the parley, Cuba has announced that it will send a passenger ship to some of the big South American ports for those who want to be delegates.

All they have to do is pay a nominal sum and sign on as delegates to the conference. Who can tell an architect from a well-dressed Marxist?

Obviously the only way the flow of the revolutionary cadres to and from Havana can be stopped is by a crackdown inside each capital. Intelligence services can monitor the Sino-Soviet - Cuban bloc embassies and cultural centers.

The students of violence must come first to one of these points before they are signed on for the schools of subversion.

IN TWO YEARS some 1,000 young men moved into Cuba and back via Montevideo and Santiago. Now they are in the Argentine. Not all of them are Communists. Many are hard core followers of the ex-dictator now in Madrid.

The Communists have worked with the tough Peronistas for years. A combination of a thousand trained men waiting quietly for a chance to move under the leadership of an embittered Fascist Peronist general or two, is dangerous.

No one knows where they are or what they plan. They could be operating in the "up north country" or in the Avellaneda red belt on the industrial east side of Buenos Aires.

If the new Argentine government does not stabilize its economy, or put the 700,000 jobless back to work, or pay up the back wages (now almost two months behind) of many civil service people, a coalition of Communists and hard core Peronistas trained in revolution could bloody the streets.

Today is Friday, Aug. 9, the 221st day of 1963. There are 144 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1848, the first Free Soilers were organized at the National Free Soil convention in Buffalo, N.Y. In the election that year, the party's candidates were Martin Van Buren for president and Charles F. Adams for vice president.

On this date In 1773, the first series of Thomas Paine's patriotic series, "The Crisis," was published.

In 1842, the Webster-Ashburton treaty with England was signed, fixing the northern boundary of Maine and freeing navigation of the St. Johns River.

In 1905, Russian and Japanese peace envoys met at Portsmouth, N.H., at the invitation of President Theodore Roosevelt.

In 1945, the United States dropped an atomic bomb on the Japanese city of Nagasaki — the second of two such weapons used in World War II.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17-year-old boy who hopes you can solve my problem or lead me to someone who will.

My voice is high-pitched and weak. I sound like a girl. It always has been this way but it seems to be getting worse. I'm becoming so self-conscious about it that I never answer the phone unless I absolutely have to.

This is not my imagination. Ann. People always are mistaking me for my younger sister. Operators frequently say, "Yes, Ma'am."

I hate to speak in class because of my voice. My grades slipped last year because I'd rather shake my head no than to give the right answer.

People say I'm not bad looking. I have a good build, am a neat dresser and have a pleasant personality but my voice is ruining my life. Can you suggest help for me?—DAVID.

Dear David: First go to a doctor and find out if there is something organically wrong. If you get a clean bill of health, ask the doctor to suggest a speech clinic. You can strengthen your vocal cords just as you can strengthen other parts of your body. Voice lessons will give you confidence. Your insecurity is a major part of your problem.

Word From Dog Patch

Dear Ann: The letter about the neighbor with 38 cats was too much. These people never had it so good. Please ask them if they would like to trade houses with us.

For five years we have lived next door to a character who has parlayed two poodles into 48 dogs of different sizes, colors and breeds (German Schnauzers, Britany spaniels and toy poodles). This is asking a great deal of a five-room bungalow.

The enterprise is advertised as follows in the local paper: "Stud service, clipping and puppies available."

Theshenck is unbearable, especially on hot days when the wind is from the south. The yapping and barking is enough to drive a person to the brink, which is where I am at the moment.

Yes, we have complained to the authorities and the situation has been investigated. But it was decided that the people are operating within the law, since their dogs are a "hobby." When the ads were presented as evidence that they are also in business, we were told that it is strictly all right to make money on a hobby.

What do we do next? — DOG TIED.

Dear Tired: Organize the neighborhood for some red-hot political action. If enough of you put heat on City Council or the zoning board you probably will get results.

Overweight Brother

Dear Ann: This problem concerns my brother, Tim, who is 11. Or perhaps my mother is the real problem.

Tim is dreadfully overweight. He has been putting on the pounds steadily since he was about 8 years old. Now he is so heavy he looks terrible. The boy eats all day long and Mom takes delight in getting him to clean his plate. Then she piles on more food.

I have told her she should put Tim on a diet and she says, "It's only baby fat. He'll outgrow it."

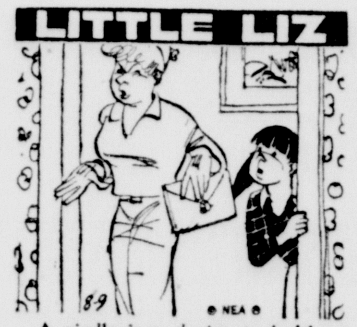

I'm deeply concerned about this because I know it is unhealthy for anyone to carry around so much excess weight. Please tell me what should be done. — TIM'S SISTER.

Dear Sister: Your brother should be put on a diet by a doctor. This is no baby fat problem. The boy probably eats out of frustration and anxiety. Your physician will tell you mother if a diet is sufficient or if the boy needs professional help as well.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

'First Robins' Have Been Sighted'

An announcement has 13 business executives have formed the Business-Industry Political Action Committee to help congressional candidates in the 1964 election is a "first robin" sign of next year's coming event.

It was announced the same day that the Republican Citizens Committee of the United States was creating a citizens' council to formulate policy positions independently of the party's national committee and its congressional delegation—another "first robin" of 1964.

In the months ahead, many similar attempts to stratify voters inside both parties and to establish policy beach-heads that might be appealing to independents will be

Salem's Lou Slaby

All of us who know Lou Slaby from his Salem High School days when he was an all-round athlete are happy over his successful debut with the New York Giants at the pro team's training camp at Fairfield (Conn.) University.

Lou's ability, already demonstrated at the University of Pittsburgh before the Giants of the National Football League tagged him as their No. 5 draft choice, is matched by his popularity and sincerity, as attested by latest reports from the Giants' camp where his versatility and initiative have pleased the critical coaching staff. It doesn't surprise us that Lou has picked up the title of "Horse" because of his rugged physique and hard play. We still recall him as the "work-horse" of the Salem High School Quakers basketball team that fought its way to the finals of the state basketball tournament in 1957.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

The idea of controlling the weather is one of those things that seem wonderful at first blush but upon further thought turn out to be terrible shames and dilemmas.

The way it is now, with nature taking its course, everybody complains at one time or another, but if the weather were controlled everybody would complain all the time because theoretically something could be done about their complaints.

Thus, it is consoling to get the word from someone other than such an authority as Dr. Francis Wilton Reichelderfer, retiring after 25 years as chief of the U.S. Weather Bureau, that weather control is unlikely within the foreseeable future.

He says experts know only about five percent of what they would need to know about the atmosphere to predict rainfall accurately. Let alone control it.

WE CAN AGREE that forecasting the weather is a good thing when it works and that destructive forces such as gale winds, hurricanes, typhoons and tornadoes are natural enemies we would like to control.

But when it comes to everyday weather, that is a different thing. Any control of ordinary weather would result in disagreements which would make the U.N. Security Council seem like a seminar or theology.

This opinion was recently reinforced by some acquaintances who come back to their made. This is the way the party system works.

The prime significance of the Business-Industry Political Action Committee is, obviously, financial. It is patterned after the Political Action Committee of AFL-CIO, which brings financial clout to bear on congressional races.

Its leverage is engineered to close tolerances. It is chiefly interested in contests that promise to be close because they were close in the preceding election. The application of a substantial sum of money or a forceful push in the right place at the right moment can make a world of difference. Business leaders will use the same technique.

The trick is to apply the leverage and give the push legally and effectually.

It's hardly what the early toilers in the political vineyard had in mind, but that's the way it's done. That's the way it has to be done to meet the competition. In politics as in war, every new weapon gives rise to a counterweapon.

Getting Ready

Within a month, believe it or not, Salem High School's marching band will be playing before the football fans at Reilly Stadium. In order to get ready for this event and other games to follow during the cool fall weeks to come, the Quaker band will start rehearsals Monday morning.

Back to direct the school musicians in their intricate drills will be Richard Howenstine, able instrumental music instructor who will be one of the busiest men in the school system for the next two or three months.

northern home from one of the nation's so-called sunny southern seacoast states and said they did not like the monotony, heat and dryness of the weather there.

"Sure, the sky was blue all the time," they said, "but not as pretty a blue as we have here at home."

Some of us like our weather spiced with occasional thunderheads and lightning for variety. And that's that about the weather.

A NEWS REPORT from Korea, where soldiers have lost their lives lately, said, "There was new gunfire in the demilitarized zone." This is "demilitarized."

THAT OLD phrase about putting "teeth in the law" is illustrated with a vengeance nowadays by the use of police dogs. And the concept that the preservation of freedom is a continuing struggle is vividly demonstrated by the current civil rights battle. There is something paradoxical about civil rights requiring demonstrations and a march on Washington. Maybe there should be more talk about civil wrongs.

YOU PROBABLY have your own collection of favorite heads on newspaper stories. One of our all-time favorites was about the circus elephant named Gloria that died. The head on the story said, "Sic Transit Gloria."

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: A customer brought silk drapes into the cleaners where I was working. Rain had watermarked them badly.

I asked a friend (many years in the business) what to do. I was advised nothing would remove water marks.

The lady bought rubbing alcohol and used it to rub the circles and discoloration. All discoloration was completely removed. She then put her drapes in the self-service dry cleaning tubs. Her drapes looked beautiful. She told me she first tested the alcohol on the hem of the drape on the wrong side.

MARIETTA DODSON.

DEAR LADIES: Before using rubbing alcohol on anything be sure to spot test it first on a hidden spot to see if it is safe for your particular material. Some kinds of material do not like alcohol!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When sewing on fancy net (whether making evening dresses or pretty curtains) I have found that instead of using pins, it is far easier to use small invisible — type hair pins! No basting is necessary at all when using this method and they will not slip out the way a straight pin will. This also works on lace.

MRS. E. COLOR.

WINDOW SHADE DECOR

DEAR HELOISE: Here is an idea for those who still use the old-time roller shades—whether it be in the kitchen, bedroom or living room.

Every two years when we paper our walls, we cut some of the design from the extra pieces of wallpaper and paste them on the shades!

Example: If we have dainty flowers in the bedroom paper we cut out about five of the little flowers and put them on the inside of the shade and they match the walls.

This idea is adorable in our kitchen. This year our kitchen paper had little pots and pans all over it. We cut out one of each and put them across the bottom of the shade. If you just want to try out the idea, use a piece of scotch tape to hold the designs on for a few days.

MRS. ROSSETTI.

DEAR HELOISE: When bottles that have become cloudy inside from hard water, I have found that I can get them clean and clear again if I pour some full strength ammonia in the bottle and then cap them and let stand awhile. I shake the ammonia in my capped bottle, pour it out and rinse with cold water.

MRS. WILLIAM EICHENLAUB.

DEAR HELOISE: I wonder if your readers know that many fruit pies will not boil over if some cornstarch is added to the fruit and used as a thickening before pouring it into the pie crust?

When making fruit and berry pies I always cut the lower portion of the pie crust larger than the top crust. After putting the fruit in the bottom shell and covering the top of the pie with the other piece of crust, I fold the throw your bath towel over the pie shell and pinch it with my fingers.

it's part of our world-wide defense preparation—a job you expect the federal government to do. The nation is better able to pay for this job when the government cuts out needless spending.

Yet there are some people who urge that the federal government build more electric plants and lines. This is needless spending because the more than 300 investor-owned electric light and power companies can supply all the additional electricity a growing America will need.

Wouldn't it make sense for the federal government to stop such needless spending, and use your tax money only for items that can be justified on the grounds of national interest?

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Health Questions, Answers

Q—My doctor says I have trigeminal neuralgia, commonly called tick douloureux. He gave me an alcohol injection that relieved the pain for about a year. The pain has come back and my doctor says that aside from another injection the only treatment is to cut the nerve. However, I have heard that there is a new treatment. Please tell me about it.

A—Tic douloureux is a common and very painful ailment. Until recently destruction of the nerve was the only sure cure. Now there is another treatment. A woman with this disease was found to have no acid in her gastric juice. When she was given dilute hydrochloric acid her pain ceased.

This led to the assumption that in hypersensitive or allergic persons a temporary or permanent disappearance of acid from the gastric juice might permit histamine or a related substance to pass from the stomach into the blood and be carried to the trigeminal nerve.

Working on this theory a series of patients with tic douloureux were given small but increasing injections of histamine in an effort to desensitize them. They were also given dilute hydrochloric acid. Those who had previously had boiling water injected into the nerve did not respond to the new treatment but the rest showed varying degrees of improvement. No treatment for this disease can be guaranteed, but this new method is worth trying.

Q—What is the treatment for rheumatic fever in adults?

A—The treatment of rheumatic fever in adults is essentially the same as that in children. The victim should rest in bed until all signs of active disease have disappeared. Aspirin or other salicylates are given. Steroid hormones may also be given in the period of active infection, and penicillin or a sulfonamide for the next five years to prevent rheumatic heart disease.

Q—What parts of the face cannot be improved by plastic surgery? I was in an accident and had one lower eyelid badly torn.

A—Plastic surgeons have made great strides since the onset of World War II. I don't believe there is any part of the face that has been injured that can't be improved. The greatest trouble is that well-qualified plastic surgeons are still in short supply and many middle sized cities do not have one.

Women Bandits Are Confused, Flee Scene

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A busy bag boy blocked a brace of bold bandits—they got befuddled.

Chief Special Agent John Walker of a grocery firm gave this account:

Two women entered a food store in South Louisville Wednesday night and demanded money. One had a pistol.

The bag boy was unaware of the holdup attempt. He was on his way to a parking area to get shopping baskets. The woman with the gun told her companion, "We'd better get him in here."

They went outside after the youth. A store official locked the doors behind them. Flustered, the women fled.

Oral Waterfall

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of life's little ordeals to most wives is feeling their husbands never listen to them.

"I could talk to my husband until I was blue in the face, and he'd never hear a word I say"—so runs the complaint.

Actually, this is an exaggeration, as are most things that wives say.

The fact is that the average husband listens a lot to his wife. This can be detected by the surprised look on his face when she finally stops talking.

Or, it is sometimes shown by an offhand remark he may drop while at lunch with his office cronies.

Such as: "Well, guess what asinine idea my wife has now. You wouldn't believe me if I told you. She wants me to buy a two-seated lawnmower so we can cut the grass together."

Most husbands merely are playing possum when they appear deaf to what their wives are saying. Partly it's a matter of self-defense.

It is also caused by a basic difference between the way men and women use conversation.

A man feels he thinks a situation through silently and then puts his message into words. But he believes a woman most of the time only uses words as a camouflage to hide her real thoughts—if any. So why listen?

To him, feminine conversation is like a waterfall, full of more sound than sense. But he is also well aware that, like a waterfall, it has the long slow inescapable power of erosion. It will achieve its purpose, however long it takes.

Most husbands also have a conviction that their wives never start a conversation except with a hidden motive—to get a fellow to do something he doesn't want to do.

That's why a husband is instantly wary when his wife switches off the television set, and says: "Henry, talk to me."

Trapped, Henry leans back and waits. Grimly he vows this time to listen.

Her oral waterfall begins. His wife tells him about her quarrel with the grocer, the naughty words their son learned at camp, how she fixed the broken attic fan with a bent hairpin, single-handed, the time on their vacation 12 years ago when he drove off and left her in a filling station restroom, what's wrong with his relatives and what's right with hers, and 10 good reasons why he has to earn more money if they aren't to wind up in the poorhouse.

Finally, as her countenance turns a bright indigo, Henry puts his palm over her mouth and shuts her off.

"I did it at last!" he shouts triumphantly.

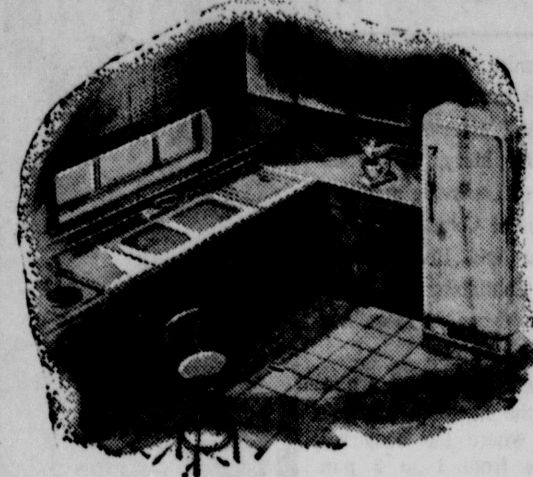

"Did what?" she mumbles through his hand.

"I let you talk yourself blue in the face—and I heard every single word you had to say."

That's what Henry thinks. But when he removes his hand, he finds she has a few thousand left.

A total of 12,254,800 new homes were built in the U.S. in the 10-year period between 1952 and 1962.

minutes with split-second timing probably based on months of planning and spying on the line. Only afterwards did people living in the nearby village of Cheddington remember men who came to take movies of the trains rattling by.

The train engineer, Jack Mills, 58, was recovering in a hospital with eight stitches in his scalp. Two of the masked men jumped into his cab, clubbed him with iron bars and handcuffed him to the fireman, Dave Whitby.

"Dave and I were ordered to lie face down in the grass as about 15 other men swarmed aboard the train and smashed open the two coaches with pickaxes," said Mills.

"Two of the gang stood guard over Dave and I and said if we tried to make a move we would get another beating.

"Dave and I lay very still. I'd had one beating and didn't want another."

at Otis Air Force Base to the Boston hospital less than five hours after his birth. Teams of specialists gathered quickly to aid the child.

Doctors put the special breathing unit—a three-compartment, submarine-like device—into use Thursday afternoon. The device hopefully would have forced oxygen into the baby's lungs.

Almost immediately the baby showed improvement and optimistic reports continued as late as 11:30 p.m.

Returns To Own Quarters

After Salinger made the announcement of the baby's death to newsmen jammed into a room at the famed Children's Hospital the President returned to his quarters to spend the rest of the night.

The other two Kennedy children, Caroline, 5, and John Jr., who will be three years old in November, are on Squaw Island at Hyannis Port, the summer White House on Cape Cod.

Salinger said at midmorning Thursday the baby was in serious condition but afternoon reports were less alarming. Thursday night came word that the child was being fed intravenously.

The midday report sent the President hurrying back from Cape Cod to Boston to be with the baby.

Kennedy conferred with doctors and visited his newborn son four times Thursday.

When the President decided to remain overnight at the hospital instead of going to his suite at the Ritz Carlton Hotel, Salinger fended off inquiries as to whether this had any significance by saying simply that the President decided to stay.

range." He said some senators were deeply disturbed whether the treaty might bar testing for peaceful purposes. Others, he said, will seek proof of the readiness of the United States to resume atmospheric testing quickly if the agreement is violated.

Kennedy sought to allay concern in his message. He emphasized that no secret agreement was made with the Soviets.

"This treaty is the whole agreement," Kennedy said. "United States negotiators in Moscow were instructed not to make this agreement conditioned upon any other understanding; and they made none. The treaty speaks for itself."

He continued: "This treaty advances, though it does not assure, world peace; and it will inhibit, though it does not prohibit, the nuclear arms race."

"While it will not end the threat of nuclear war or outlaw the use of nuclear weapons, it can reduce world tensions, open a way to further agreements and thereby help to ease the threat of war."

Senate hearings on the treaty are expected to take three weeks followed by a week of floor debate. The administration is confident that in the end the pact will have the support of more than the required two-thirds of the Senate.

Tensions

Congress, SEC Chairman William L. Cary indicated the next step will be a series of meetings with securities industry leaders.

These would seek an accord on additional controls and improvements, especially those within the powers of the SEC, the stock exchanges, mutual fund industry and the National Association of Security Dealers, which oversees the over the counter market for unlisted stocks.

Cary said he had no plans to ask for legislation at this session of Congress, but a couple of proposals would be advanced next year.

A bill embodying recommendations based on the first special staff study report has passed the Senate and awaits House action. The latest report caused no immediate stir on the stock market, where prices inched higher late in the day.

journey to hospital in a big white convertible. Contrary to his usually informal, open manner of travel on Cape Cod, the President rode concealed beneath the car's black canvas top.

He and his brother had to pass a battery of cameramen as they walked swiftly up the few steps to the hospital wing.

Members of the staff, patients, doctors and nurses craned out of windows in adjoining barracks buildings to catch a glimpse of the President as he arrived, this time in sadness instead of in the joyful mood that had followed the first hours of the birth of young Patrick.

The President looked tired. His face was unusually lined after the long ordeal that began with his dramatic race from the summer White House Wednesday and concluded with his sad overnight vigil at the Children's Medical Center in Boston.

Mrs. Kennedy had retired Thursday night buoyed by word from the President that their new baby was showing improvement.

Old Dutch Earns Berth In District Softball Finals

Rips Stepanics 5-2 Thursday Carroll All-Stars Dump Am-Vits 6-3

Defending champion Old Dutch needs only one more victory to retain its Class A District softball crown. The classy aggregation earned a spot in the finals by knocking off Stepanics 5-2 at Kelly Field last night.

The Carroll County All-Stars, behind the nifty pitching of Salern's Don Fife, eliminated county runnerup East Liverpool Am-Vits 6-3.

Stepanics and the All-Stars will play a losers bracket tilt Saturday at 7 p.m.; and the winners then battle Old Dutch at 8:30. Old Dutch took a 3-0 lead against Stepanics in the first inning last evening on an error, double by Bill Ferguson, a hit batter, walk, fielder's choice and a single by Bob Stallsmith.

JIM BARNES socked a home run in the fourth, and back-to-back doubles by Bruce Feicht gave the winners their final tally in the fourth.

Stepanics cut the deficit to 3-2 in the second, scoring both its markers on a single by Dick Andric, a hit batter, walk and a single by Carson McNeely.

Feicht, Ferguson and Stallsmith pace Old Dutch with two hits apiece. John Stoffer was the winning pitcher.

Andric collected two of Stepanics' six hits. Jim Stonemetz was the loser hurler.

Home runs, two by Jack Nigro and one by Harold Moyer, led the All-Stars to their victory. Both the winners and East Liverpool each had five hits.

THE ALL-STARS broke a 11 tie in the third with a four run rally on two errors, two sacrifice, a single by Moyer and Nigro's second homer.

18th Annual North-South Grid Classic Set At Canton

50 of Ohio's Finest Stars Ready For Action

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Fifty of Ohio's finest high school gridgers stage the state's 18th North-South all star football game tonight, with the underdog Rebels needing a victory to tie the all-time series.

The Northerners, under 1962 coach-of-the-year Tom McHugh of Toledo Central Catholic's state champions, were installed as one touchdown favorites due to a decisive weight advantage and a fleet backfield. North's record is 8-7-2.

Bron Bacevich of Cincinnati Roger Bacon said he expected a "good, tight game" and indicated his club had a better chance than the odds-makers indicated.

McHugh said his squad was made up of "proud young men." He was so satisfied with their showing in practice sessions that he allowed the entire squad to attend a dance Thursday night.

The rival captains expressed confidence just before the contest. Allen Page, Canton Central Catholic end, and Bo Rein, halfback from Niles McKinley, the co-leaders of the Yankees, said, "We'll win this one and move two games ahead of the Rebels." End Jim Lynch of Lima Central Catholic and center Cal Withrow of Kettering Fairmont, the Southern captains, issued a joint statement to the effect that "we'll make it three in a row by surprising those big boys."

A crowd of more than 12,000 was predicted for the Fawcett Stadium contest. A halftime highlight will be presentation of a $1,000 scholarship, sponsored by the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association, to Patricia Ann Trimble, a straight-A coed at Warren Harding High School.

McHugh announced his offensive lineup would have Mike Orazen of Euclid and John Kettunen of Eastlake as ends, Page and Jerry Jonke of Akron Hoban at tackle, Al Keiser of Bay Village and Gary Windle of Warren Harding at guard, Jerry Brudzinski of Fremont Ross at center, Ray Kubacki of Cleveland St. Ignatius at quarterback, Larry Grimes of Alliance and Rein at halfback and Frank Dugan of Canton South at fullback.

On defense the Yankees will start ends James Horney of Youngstown Mooney and Page; tackles Jonke and Ben Bradley of Massillon, middle guard Christ Vagotis of Canton Lincoln, and line backers and defensive backs Orazen, Rein, Jerry Jewson of Toledo Woodward, Dennis Bolboch of Cuyahoga Falls and Sal Collura of Cleveland Benedictine.

Mets Nip Cards 3-2; Cincy Trims Phils 6-3

Santo Socks 2 Homers As Cubs Edge Dodgers 5-4; Pirates Triumph 1-0

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer For Comeback of the Year honors, how about Ron Santo, the Cub clubber who's replaced Ernie Banks as the Chicagoans' entry in the National League power trust?

Santo, handed the cleanup spot in the batting order despite a .227 batting average in 1962, paid another dividend on the gamble Thursday when he hit a pair of homers that powered the Cubs to a 5-4, 10-inning victory over first-place Los Angeles.

Santo hit his first homer in the fifth inning to tie the score, then won it in the 10th with a shot over left field bleachers that ended the Cubs' four-game losing skid, and trimmed the Dodgers edge over second-place San Francisco to 5 1/2 games.

Santo, who hit .284 in 1961, floundered last year while his confusion was compounded by continually being shuffled in the batting order. He was tabbed for the No. 4 spot during spring training and told "the job's yours."

was released from a hospital and pronounced fit except for a minor infection in his blood stream. The two-time home-run king, hitting a woeful .228, entered the hospital after complaining of fatigue.

St. Louis dropped to third place, six games back, after losing to the New York Mets 3-2 on a home run by former teammate Duke Carmel. Cincinnati got home runs from Frank Robinson and Tommy Harper in a 6-3 decision over Philadelphia and Pittsburgh's Bob Friend blanked Milwaukee 1-0 on six hits. San Francisco and Houston were not scheduled.

The Dodgers scored all their runs on homers in the fifth inning with rookie Al Ferrara connecting before Frank Howard and Moose Skowron hit consecutive pinch-hit homers. Santo tied the score in the bottom of the inning before tagging Larry Sherry for the homer that produced the Cubs' 59th victory, equaling their entire 1962 production. The Cubs are fourth, 8 1/2 games off the pace.

With the Mets and Cards tied 2-2, Carmel hit his first homer for the New Yorkers in the eighth inning to give Al Jackson his seventh victory. Charlie James' solo homer gave St. Louis a 2-0 lead before the Mets came back to tie in the fourth on singles by Ron Hunt, Frank Thomas, Carmel and Al Moran. Bobby Shantz was the loser.

2 Unheralded Players Share Honors In AL Action; Yanks Rip Senators 3-1

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer. Necessity, the mother of invention who sometimes winks at major league managers, has shoved two of her stepchildren into the American League spotlight—Jose Azcue and Gary Peters.

Azcue, whose credits include his failure to hold a job with Kansas City, stole home for Cleveland's first run Thursday night and scored the other after stroking a double to pave the way for a 2-0 victory over Baltimore in which batterymate Dick Donovan pitched a three-hitter.

Peters, who produced an 0-1 record in four previous shots at a major league berth, suddenly has developed into one of the hottest pitchers in the league, winning his sixth straight for the Chicago White Sox in a 5-3 triumph over Kansas City.

The 28-year-old left-hander, kept in the starting rotation by Manager Al Lopez despite a slow start, has posted an 11-5 record and produced an eye-opening 2.07 earned run average.

Summer Cage Results

After building up an early 12-point lead, the Bearcats barely made it as they posted a hard earned 52-50 decision over an inspired Raiders aggregation in Summer Basketball League action at Centennial Park Thursday night.

In other contests, Tom's Sunoco knocked off Spack's Specs 94-64 and Lisbon A.C. handed the loss in a run 88-64.

The Bearcats (8-0) took a 12-8 lead in the initial lead, increased its margin to 30-18 at intermission and held a 40-38 spread at the end of the third frame.

Don Davidson and Gary Jelfries paced the winners with 12 points apiece. Therm Riddle and Lee Radler led the losers (4-4) with 16 markers each.

Tom's Sunoco (4-4) held only a two-point 20-18 lead at the end of the initial, but increased its margin to 50-30 at half time and 70-46 at the end of the third session.

Warren's Sabotin Fire's 143 For Lead In Publinx Tourney

By HAL PARIS SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Lulu Sabotin, who once scored a decision over former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson when both were amateurs, had his sights set on another big victory today.

The ex-prizefighter from Warren carved out an unsensational but steady 73 Thursday and took the lead at the halfway point of the 30th Ohio Public Links Golf Tournament.

Sabotin, runnerup in the Publinx two years ago, parred the final 12 holes of Reid Memorial Park's 6,748-yard course for a two-round total of 143. The 33-year-old fire department lieutenant carried a shaky one-stroke advantage into today's grueling 36-hole finale that would decide the 72-hole medal play contest.

Hard on his heels with even par 144 scores were two-time winner Len Pietras of Toledo, first-round leader Tony Shorie of Canton and Alex Rotar Jr., also of Canton.

Rotar, a 20-year-old Ohio University student, and Pietras, a 28-year-old salesman, fired 71s Thursday for the best scores of the day. But Shorie, a Ford Motor Co. plant supervisor, soared from an opening 69 to a 75 on Snyder Park's 6,081-yard layout, where half the field played.

George Welsh of Dayton, who equaled par with a 72, and Bob Likko of Youngstown.

Marty Zinner of Cleveland was the only other golfer to match par Thursday, giving him a 146 total good for a seventh place deadlock with Elmer Gargac of Toledo.

The 36-hole seniors championship went to 49-year-old Grady Metz of Columbiana. He posted a 149.

Warren's four-man team of Sabotin, Vic Banish, Walt Duda and Joe Campana Jr. tied Springfield's quartet of Jim Logue, Jim Stokes, Jack Horton and Dave Tooke for the team title with 602 scores for 36 holes.

Sixty-five golfers were set to compete in today's windup after a cutoff score of 155 trimmed the starting field of 240 players down to the 60 low scorers and ties. The officers of the Ohio Public

A word from THERON at the Country Store

This program that we help to sponsor on WSOM each morning Monday through Friday has been favorable complimented on by a lot of people.

They tell of all the births and hospital admissions in the Salem Area on this program. I have only heard it once myself. We have this background music from WSOM playing all day in the store. Once in a while we forget to turn it on and it just don't seem right without it.

Today's Steak Winner:
